CHARLES ROSNER

THE WRITING ON THE WALL 1813 - 1943

With 38 full-page illustrations

NICHOLSON & WATSON

First Published October 1943

To S

MADE AND PRINTED IN GREAT BRITAIN BY HENDLESON & SHALDING

HE striking points of resemblance between Napoleon and Hitler have been stressed again and again: their ambitions, their goals and the causes of their downfall, the dictatorial methods they used in their own countries and the ruthless force they employed to achieve their ultimate aim of dominating Europe and the whole world. The similarity is obvious:

Napoleon became Emperor and dictator of France after France had freed herself from the Bourbon Dynasty and had achieved the triple ideal of Liberty, Egality and Fraternity. More than a century later Hitler became Chancellor and Führer of Germany after she had rid herself of the Hohenzollern Dynasty and a Kaiser who had led his nation into one of the most disastrous wars in history—a price which the Germans had to pay to reach the brief period of freedom under the Weimar Republic.

In both cases the people of these countries lost their great achievements through megalomaniac tyrants because they were not sufficiently united in their determination to defend their liberties.

Again and again this comparison is cited. Yet there is another side to the picture.

In both cases—in 1803-1813 just as in 1939-1943—the dictators had to face two main obstacles: Britain and Russia. Both dictators wanted to avoid a war on two fronts. They made treaties only to break them and were ultimately involved in fighting both in the West and in the East. Napoleon and Hitler both planned to crush Britain first by an invasion; this was called off in 1803 as it was in 1940. Then they both tried to destroy Russia as an essential preliminary to obtaining a free hand against Britain. Both of them met their first military defeat in the East—to be crushed finally in the West.

How did it happen that Britain, unprepared and Russia, not equipped for the total warfare of 1812 or 1941, were able to foil the invader who had been working then as now for many years to achieve the paramount aim of military superiority?

Napoleon and Hitler alike misjudged their foes. They were thinking in terms of mere power instead of the peoples' will to resist tyranny.

In 1803 and 1939 the Continental dictators faced a Britain unprepared and resting somewhat complacently on her democratic achievements. The people only rose to defend their freedom when the danger was immediate. But in the moment of danger the war became a "People's War" and the invader would have had to fight the entire population of the island fortress, united in 1940 as it was in 1803.

In 1812 Napoleon succeeded in capturing Moscow; in 1941 Hitler was almost in sight of the great city. But neither of them ever conquered Russia or the Russian spirit. As in 1812, the Russians of 1941 scorched their cities, destroyed their crops and the whole nation rose to arms against the invader.

It may be true or it may be false that democracies do not learn by their past mistakes or perils. One thing is certain: they did not accept the lesson that they must be armed if only to prevent war. But their real arms are made of sterner stuff than steel and iron—the free will to resist and to save their liberties whatever the cost. Freedom is life to them and life is not worth living without freedom.

History often repeats itself. Dictators may wage "total war," but their method of warfare will always rouse a liberty-loving people, and the will to resist of the "united nations" will surely hurl them to their inevitable doom.

This book of pictures has been compiled from the Napoleonic collection of broadsheets, cartoons and prints bequeathed to the University of Oxford by the Marquess Curzon, and are published with the consent of the Bodleian Library, Oxford. They have been arranged to illustrate the invasion threat directed against Britain in 1798-1803, Napoleon's 1812-13-Campaign in Russia; his Egyptian venture to open the road to India in 1799; the "United Nations" of 1813. It sets out to show and prove the similarity of the situation in 1803 and 1940, 1812 and 1941, 1799 and 1943 respectively.

We have to thank Messrs. Cassell & Co., Ltd., publishers of the Prime Minister's speeches, for permission to reprint extracts.

" ON FRIDAY EVENING LAST I RECEIVED HIS Majesty's Commission to form a new Administration. It was the evident wish and will of Parliament and the nation that this should be conceived on the broadest possible basis and that it should include all parties, both those who supported the late Government and also the parties of the Opposition.

"I would say to the House, as I said to those who have joined this Government: 'I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat.'

"You ask what is our policy? I will say: It is to wage war, by sea, land and air, with all our might and with all the strength that God can give us: to wage war against a monstrous tyranny, never surpassed in the dark, lamentable catalogue of human crime."

TO THE

People of England.

Friends and Countrymen,

AS BONAFARTE and his ARMY seem determined to attempt an Invasion of this Country, it becomes the Government and the People to consider seriously of the probability of such an event, and properly to estimate the consequences; to consider well the sentiments of the people, and to guard against internal as well as external enemies.

Some people affect to doubt whether Bonaparte has any such intention, and others, who believe that he may make the attempt, say, it is impossible he can succeed, and contemplate his threats without emotion. These opinions proceed either from a hope of the success of an Invasion, or ignorance of the character of the Enemy; and both of them have one tendency, that is, to produce supineness and indifference.

Nothing, surely, can tend so effectually to serve the Enemy's cause, as an opinion that the French cannot hurt us.—Let every man in the Kingdom entertain this notion, and the Country would be necome an easy frey. A proper sense of danger, when danger threatens, is the first thing that moves towards averting the danger. Where there is no sense ofdanger, or but little, there will be but little or no exertion; and these are the considerations which lead me to suspect that those who are perpetually crying out, "Bonaparte won't attempt an Invasion;" or, "if he does, it is impossible he should succeed," are either fools or scoundrels. It may be boldly said, that no friend to his Country, no one who properly estimates the blessings we enjoy, no man who does not wish success to the ARCH-FIEND BONAPARTE, will say, that there is no probability of an Invasion; unless he is so besotted with ignorance of the present state of human affairs, and of the character of that GREAT SHEDDER OF HUMAN BLOOD, as to be properly denominated a fool.

During the late War Bonaparte made a number of desperate attempts, he overcome obstacles apparently insurmountable, and automished Europe by the promptitude and decision of his measures. He has often been successful merely because his attempts have been eleptrate, and his advances unexpected; and those who have opposed him have been overcome, not because they were destitute of the means of resistance, but because they were appalled and confounded by the rashness of his enterprizes.

His adventures have been of such a nature as are fully sufficient to justify an apprehension that he will make the attempt, and that he may possibly succeed in landing an Army in Britain. But if we are to be told, that he dare not attempt it, or, if he does, that his success is impossible, we shall be led into a state of indifference, which will be fatal to us. It is not in human nature to make such great exertions to avert danger, where there is only a cool calculation of the probability of an event, and the mind is in a state of considerable doubt about that probability, as are made when the mind is sensibly affected by a danger, which is seen to be impending. It is, therefore, the duty of every Friend to his Country, to miss the best of a land, to excite in the minds of men of all banks, a strong feeling of the danger to which we are exposed, and of the ruin that would follow, if that danger should be consummated! But yet in such a way as not to excite fear.—To impress on their minds a strong sense of the necessity of great exertion, and in that case of the certainty of ultimate success. This is the point to which Britons should be brought.—They should be convinced, that the French Army is now collecting for the avowed purpose of invading us, and that ere long, the bold attempt will be made.—They should be taught, that if we slight and contemn the danger. THE COUNTRY IS I.OST; but that if the danger is properly estimated, and BRITONS will exert themselves, THE COUNTRY IS SAVED!

Let every one, therefore, be on his guard against those who would endeavour to persuade them, that we are in no danger.—Such men should be considered as public Enemies. THE CRISIS IS AWFUL, AND THE NATIONAL SAFETY MUST NOT BE TRIFLED WITH. The people should recollect and apply the good old maxim, "He who is NOT FOR US, IS AGAINST US." In times like these, there should be a unity of sentiment, and a unity of action. There should be but one heart, and one soul. One spirit of resistance should enflame every mind. Britons should consider themselves as brethren united together in one common cause, in which all are equally and most importantly interested.

Indeed, COUNTRYMEN, you are deeply interested in the present GREAT STRUGGLE. It is a contest between tyranny and inveterate malice on the part of our Enemies, and a determination on the part of BRITONS, to MAINTAIN THEIR DEAREST AND MOST IMPORTANT INTERESTS.

The Conquest of this Country by the French, would be the greatest of all evils that could befal it. Our Enemy says, HE WILL DESTROY IT:-He tells you, that YOU SHALL BE FUT 10 THE SWORD. IT IS FOR YOU TO GIVE THE LIE TO THE IMPUDENT INVADER.

Cour, Wymen,

Since this has been a Nation, the People were never more imperiously called upon by their own interests, to strengthen the Arm of Government. To lay aside all party differences. And to determine to effect THE SALVATION OF THEIR COUNTRY, OR TO FALL AMONGST ITS RUINS!

July 15, 1803.

AN ENGLISHMAN.

HAVE, MYSELF, FULL CONFIDENCE THAT IF all do their duty, if nothing is neglected, and if the best arrangements are made, as they are being made, we shall prove ourselves once again able to defend our island home, to ride out the storm of war, and to outlive the menace of tyranny, if necessary, for years, if necessary, alone. At any rate, that is what we are going to try to do. That is the resolve of His Majesty's Government—every man of them. That is the will of Parliament and the nation.

"Even though large tracts of Europe and many old and famous States have fallen or may fall into the grip of the Gestapo and all the odious apparatus of Nazi Rule, we shall not flag or fail. We shall go on to the end—we shall defend our island, whatever the cost may be, we shall fight on the beaches, we shall fight on the landing grounds, we shall fight in the fields and in the streets, we shall fight in the hills; we shall never surrender."

Bonaparte's true Character,

AND

The Consequences which await England,

Should we, by our Supineness, suffer him to put his Threats of Invasion into Execution.

HAVING enllaved the People, whom he undertook to free, and plundered and subjugated all Orders of the Inhabitants, rich and poor, of Holland, Switzerland, and Italy, under the solemn assurances of Fraternity and Friendship, he is now determined on the Invasion of this United Kingdom, and is making the most formidable preparations for that purpose.

And although Bonaparte himself is of opinion, the success of such an undertaking is highly improbable, and that he must facrifice Army after Army, if he perseveres in the Attempt, yet the Threat having been denounced, nothing can sustain the Honour of our Country, but the most energetic and universal Exertion. It is not enough for our reputation, that his success should be improbable, it ought, by the numbers and gallantry of our Volunteers, under the blessing of Divine Providence, to be rendered impossible. By such a Conduct only can this Nation continue to enjoy tranquillity, have a disposable Force in the hands of Government for offensive Operations, and share the glory of avenging the wrongs of Europe, against the Destroyer of its Liberty, its Happiness, and its Honour.

We are invited, fellow-citizens, to come forward in defence of the happiest and wifest Constitution known to the world; in defence of a Sovereign, who, for a Period of more than forty Years, has shewn himself to be the Father of all those who have the happiness to live under the British Government. In defending objects thus sacred and dear, we deplore that our Country is called upon to encounter a People with whom England wifnes to live in amity, but who, unhappily for themselves and the civilized world, have submitted to the degradation of being made subservient to the aggrandizement and ambition of one man---an obscure Corsican, who began his murderous career, with turning his Artillery upon the Citizens of Paris --- who boasted in his Public Letter from Pavia, of having shot the whole Municipality --- who put the helpless innocent and unoffending Inhabitants of Alexandria, Man, Woman, and Child, eto the Sword, till Slaughter was tired of its Work---who, against all the Laws of War, put near 4000 Turks to Death, in cold Blood, after their Surrender--who destroyed his own Comrades by Poison, when lying fick and wounded in Hospitals, because they were unable to further the Plan of Pillage, which carried him to Jean d'Acre---who having thus stained the Profession of Arms, and solemnly and publicly renounced the religious Faith of Christendom and embraced Mahometanism, again pretended to embrace the Christian Religion---who, on his return to France, destroyed the Representative System---who, after seducing the Polish Legion into the Service of his pretended Republic, treacherously transferred it to St. Domingo, where it has perished to a Man, either by Difease or the Sword--- and who, finally, as it were to fill the Measure of his arrogance, has dared to attack what is most dear and useful to civilized Society, the Freedom of the Press, and the Freedom of Speech, by proposing to restrict the British Press, and the Deliberations of the British Senate .-- Such is the Tyrant we are called upon to oppose; and such is the Fate which awaits England, should we suffer him and his degraded Slaves to pollute our Soil.

I EXPECT THAT THE BATTLE OF BRITAIN is about to begin. Upon this battle depends the survival of Christian civilisation. Upon it depends our own British life, and the long continuity of our institutions and our Empire. The whole fury and might of the enemy must very soon be turned on us. Hitler knows that he will have to break us in this island or lose the war. If we can stand up to him, all Europe may be free and the life of the world may move forward into broad, sunlit uplands. But if we fail, then the whole world, including the United States, including all that we have known and cared for, will sink into the abyss of a new Dark Age made more sinister, and perhaps more protracted, by the lights of perverted science. Let us therefore brace ourselves to our duties, and so bear ourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years, men will still say, 'This was their finest hour.'"

People of England!

The homent is arrived when War or Peace ceales to be any longer a question of policy; a restliction and ambitious Usurper, who for fome years path has been no left the courter of the country over which he tyramites than the feourge of the civilized world, waiting until he had subjugated or kienced every Power on the Consistent, now threaten to blast your profestly, menacets your thorse with nanish. Over your laberture with annish lation 1.—Great British is the only country in Europe that has defeed his power and bassiled his arms—Great British is deep the conference of the object of his utmost rancour, detellation, and histe. Our riches, our commerce, our manufadwres have excited his envy:—our rights, our free fights, and our conflictation form too glaring a content to his own usurped and tyramical government, and he has vowed their overthrow and defluidion. He would not admit of even Prench fraternity as the alternative for this Country—HE DREADS THE VERY NAME OF LIBERTY, BECAUSE IT IS THE ENEMY OF TYRANTS, and shudders less the independent principles of England should be differented under the laternative form.

Share indeed! when a Defpot, alting from feelings of private refentment and personal ambition, in opposition to the wilbes of thirty millions of people, involves them in a bloody and distinctus war, and openly declares his determination to facilise army after army to effectiate the defluxition of this country. That the invasion of our island is not a popular measure, even among the creatures of the Typina, it will known—may, to encourage the devoted followers of his fortunes, to capage them to risk their lives, he is compelled to bribe them with promises of plunder, and to flatter their vices to enfour their fervices. Read, my Countrymen, and blush at the depraying even of an enemy. In a public proclamation, or decoy to his lubjugated people to support himsin this effort of his ambition, he assures them, WHEN THEY HAVE LANDED IN THIS COUNTRY, FHAT IN ORDER TO MAKE THE BOOTY THE RICHER, NO QUARTER SHALL BE GIVEN TO THE BASE ENGLISH WHO FIGHT FOR THEIR PREFIDIOUS GOVERNMENT—THAT THEY ARE TO BE PUT TO THE SWORD, AND THEIR PROPERTY TO BE DISTRIBULED AMONG THE SOLDIERS OF THE VICTORIOUS ARMY !!!

Thefe, then, are the intentions and projects of our enemy—thefe are the feener defined to be exhibited in this country, unless averted by the valour, unanimity, and patriotism of ther Citizens. The danger is imposing; but the moment that it is fall, and it extent generally affect anneal, it can be no longer to to the People of England—a people, whose Fathers held that they were ever an over-match for the French when equal numbered, AND THAT ONE BRITON WOULD ALWAYS DRIVE THREE FRENCHMEN BEFORE HIM—a People, whose Ancestors held that the shores of Britan must inevitably be the grave of every for that attacked them I—when once then the danger is duly appreciated, and the granue efforts of our implacable for known, such a people may will destruction upon the head of him who projects, and upon the hosts of those who would attempt the rash enterprise.—Nor are these feelings to be contenned, or treated as prejudeces—Even in our own day the laurels are full fresh upon the heads of heroes who have numitated the character that has been handed down to them, and rivalled the example of their illustrious forestaters.

OUR EDWARD. THE BLACK PRINCE, LAID WASTE THE COUNTRY OF FRANCE TO THE GATES OF PARIS, and on the Plans of Certify left clases and thirty thousand men dead upon-the field of battle! The fame heroic Prince, having annihilated the Fleet of France, enturyl pouced its Army at Politiers, took, thurt King prinose, and brought him captive to London with thousands of his Nobles and People; and all this AGAINST AN ARRIY SIX TIMES AS NIMEROUS AS THAT OF THE ENGLISH!

Did not our HARRY THE FIFTH invade France, and at Agincourt OPPOSE AN ARMY OF NINE THOUSAND MEN TO THE FRENCH COMPOSED OF FIFTY THOU-SAND?—and did he not leave ten thousand of the enemy dead upon the field, and take fourteen thousand prisoners?

Have we not within this century to boast A MARLBOROUGH who (befides his other victories) at Blenheim flew twelve thou land of the French, made fourteen thou land prisoners, and in lefs than a month conquered three hundred miles of territory from the enemy?

And are the glories of your ABERCROMBY AND THE CALLANT ARMY OF ECYPT no longer in your minds? an army of fourteen thousand Britons who landed in the free of appearate of twenty thousand of the enemy, and drove from a Country, with whole strong holds they were acquainted and whole resources they knew how to apply, a holl of Frenchmen enured to the climate, and veterans in arms. DID THEY NOT CUT TO PIECES THAT VAUNTED CORPS OF BUONAPARTE, WHOSE SUCCESSES AGAINST. OTHER POWERS HAD OBTAINED IT THE APPELLATION OF INVINCIBLE? and is not their flandard (all that was left of it) a trophy at this moment in your capital?-Arife then, my Fellow Causens and Countrymen, break that filence which you have lately observed :-let your spirit burit forth, and let your voice speak out the purpose of your fools.—Tell the plunderers of Europe that you are not the flumbenng infatuated people they have had to deal with on the Continent.—Iell them that every houle, cottage, or fiall, it in this Country a Castle-that every man is a Governor of his own Castle, and that he will insuntain it against attack as tenaciously as the I roll Consul would maintain his own Ufurped Throne-Tell them, that England would never compromife with infamy to enfure even power or greatness-but, that TO EXCHANGE A FREE CONSTITUTION. OUR MAGNA CHARTA, AND OUR BILL OF RIGHTS FOR FRENCH TYRANNY, MILITARY GOVERNMENT, AND ARBITRARY RESTRICTION—to barter TREEDOM OF DEBATE AND THE LIBERTY OF THE PRESS for imposed filence upon every political subject, and suppression of our Journals and every species of information -and equality of laws for THE WILL AND CAPRICE OF ONE, and one whose will is caprice itself-WOULD BE THE ACT OF MADMEN AND IDEOTS, such as neither Buonaparté nor the House of Bourbon have ever found the People of England to be. Speak out I rep at, or these great talkers will suppose your siknee to be the effect of timidity and apprehention-Call meetings in evely Partih-Affenble together in your towns, and give the Throne affurances of support-Let every man feel confidence in himself, whether he wield a mulket or a pitch fork.—The numbers of our enemy will diminish in the scale, as the individual becomes his own defender, and if, as we have proved, WE HAVE EVER BEEN VICTORIOUS OVER THE FRENCH UPON EQUAL TERMS, how will they efeape an overwhelming defluction and annihilation, when we book fuch a Superiority of force!-God furbid that I should entertain an apprehension upon the ultimate result of an INVASION OF THIS COUNTRY!-IT CAN ONLY BECOME FORMS DABLE BY BEING DESPISED AND LIGHTLY TREATED-Something more, however, is claimed at your hands than simply averting the threatened calamity-THE LION MUST ROUSE HIMSELF; THE COUNTRY MUST CRUSH AT A BLOW THE PRESUMPTUOUS EFFORTS OF THE ENEMY-We must not year after year be subself to his infolent menaces—our refources will be drained, our taxes engressed, and our comforts abridged; whill he, without exertion, may war against our linances, and sap the foundation of a prosperity, against which openly, I trust, he can never succeed .- Our vengrance therefore must be figual and wrible: LIKE THE BOLT FROM HEAVEN, IT MUST STRIKE THE DEVOTED ARMY OF INVADERS, and no left fecure us from the prefent, than alarm and panic finite the Soldiers of France from future attempts at so rash and ruinous an enterprize.

attempo at 10 tails and valuation attention.

Before me before we part, Fellow-Countrymen, I am one of yourfelves, and have no influence to operate upon me is this Address but the influence of Patrotiss, the Jealous'y of Before me part, Fellow-Countrymen, I am one of our illustrous forestabers.—I HAVE SEEN SUCCESAVELY FALL BENEATH THE YOKE OF OUR Rights, our National bonor, and veneration for the Confluence of our illustrous forestabers.—I HAVE SEEN SUCCESAVELY FALL BENEATH THE YOKE OF OUR AMBITIOUS ADVERSARY, THE PEOPLE OF ISOLATED AND THE PLOPLE OF SWITZERLAND. Internal divisions and disfernitions, fomened by himsell, rendered Ambitious adversary, the provided provided for their provided to deceive—He would be their father, their provided me find the manesty prey to the watchful and infinite depredators the promised for their provided to deceive—He would be their father, their provided me find the manesty prey to the watchful and infinite depredators the promised for developed them and how has a piproved himself?—he has indeed assumed a fluence of the guardan of their gains and how has a piproved himself?—he has indeed assumed the control of a parent, with the severity of a superior way share or knowledge of them.—I have seen the CONTI-taken their rights under his special guardanship, as to exclude the decoted victims of his treachery and artisce from any share or knowledge of them.—I have seen the CONTI-taken their rights under his special guardanship, as to exclude the decoted victims of his treachery and now shreatens the Brutch shore, RECAUSE THE DAY OF PREPARATION MENTAL POSSESSIONS OF OUR KING OVERRUN AND SUBJUGATED by the sime enemy who now threatens the Brutch shore, RECAUSE THE DAY OF PREPARATION MENTAL POSSESSIONS OF OUR KING OVERRUN AND SUBJUGATED by the sime enemy who now threatens the Brutch shore, RECAUSE THE DAY OF PREPARATION WAS POSTEONED, AND THE PEOPLE NEGLECTED THE DUTIES WHICH THEY OWED THEIR COUNTRY. Under the lass of their posteone as the provided and regret to the log of a similar shor

London, July 6, 1803.

PUBLICOLA.

"AND NOW IT HAS COME TO US TO STAND alone in the breach, and face the worst that tyrant's might and enmity can do. Bearing ourselves humbly before God, but conscious that we serve an unfolding purpose, we are ready to defend our native land against the invasion, by which it is threatened. We are fighting by ourselves alone; but we are not fighting for ourselves alone. Here in this strong City of Refuge which enshrines the title-deeds of human progress and is of deep consequence to Christian civilisation; here, girt about by seas and oceans where the Navy reigns; shielded from above by the prowess and devotion of our airmen—we await undismayed the impending assault. Perhaps it will come to-night. Perhaps it will come next week. Perhaps it will never come. But be the ordeal sharp or long. or both, we shall seek no terms, we shall tolerate no paricy; we may show mercy—we shall ask for none."

THE DECLARATION

OF THE

Merchants, Bankers, TRADERS, and other INHABITANTS OF LONDON AND ITS NEIGHBOURHOOD

AT a very numerous Meeting of Merchants, Bankers, Traders, and other Inhabitants of London and its Neighbourhood, held on the Royal Exchange this Day, in Consequence of public Advertisement,

COLUMN TO THE PARTY OF THE PART

The following DECLARATION was properly, and unanimously resolved upon:-

WE, the Merchants, Bankers, Traders, and other Jahabitants of London and its Neighbourbood, deem it our bounden Duty, at the prefent momentous Penod, to make public our parameter Determination to find or fail with our hong and Country.

The Independence and Emitence of the British Empire—the Sifety, the Liberty, the Life of every Man in the Kingdom are at Stake. The Events perhaps of a few Months, certainly of a few Years, are to determine whether we and our Children are to continue Frence and Members of the most flourathing Community in the World, or whether we are to be the Street of our most implicable Encours—themselves the Street of a foreign Usuper!

We look on this great Cruss without Dufansy. We have the most firm Relance on the Spirit and Virtue of the People of this Country. We believe that there exist a firmer as well as nobler Course than any which Rapine can inforce, and we cannot entertum such gloomy and unworthy Apprehensions of the moral Order of the World, as to think that so admirable a Quality can be the exclusive Attributes of Freebooters of Stave. We fight for our Lorest and Libertue—to defend the deserth Hopes of our Childre—to maintain the uniforted Glory which we have inherited from our Ancestra—to guild from Outrage and Shame those whem Nature has entrusted to our Protection—to preferre the Honour and Existence of the Country that gave us Birth.

We fight for that Confirmtion and System of Society, which is at once the noblest Monument and the firmest Bulwark of Civilization?—We fight to preserve the whole Earth from the hardwarest Yoke of military Desposition!—We fight for the Independence of all Nations, even of those who are the most indifferent to our Fate, or the most bloody jealous of our Prosperity!

In to girrous a Crafe—on the Defrace of these dear and sacred Objects, we trust that the God of our Fathers will inspire us with a Value which will be more than equal to the during Percenty of those who are lured, by the Hope of Pluoder, to fight the Battles of Ambanon.

His Mijefly is about to call upon his People to arm in their own Defence. We true, and we believe that he will not call on them in very—that the Freemen of this Land, going forth in the highteous Crafe of their Country, under the Bleffing of Almighty God, will indict the most figual Challifement on those who have dured to threaten our Destruction—a Challifement, of which the Memory will long guard the Shores of this Mand, and which may not only undersate the Hoodour, and establish the Safety of the British Empire, but may also, to the latest Posterity, serve as an Example to strike Terror into Tyrants, and torgure Course and Hope to insulted and opposited Nations.

For the Attainment of these great Ends, it is necessary that we should not only be an in-receive, but a zealiss, and anemajarrable People—that we should consider the public Safety as the chief Interest of every Individual—that every Man should doem the Sacrifice of his Fortune and his Life to his Country as nothing more than his Duty—that no Man should number at any Exercises or Privations which this swips Crisis may suspose upon him—that we should regard Faunties or Languer in the every—that we should go into the Field with an unshaken Resolution to.

Support or to dis—and that we should look upon nothing as a Calismity compared with the Subjugation of our Country.

We have most facred Dubes to perform—we have most invaluable Bleffings to preferre—we have to gove Clory and Safety, or to incur indellike Diffrace, and to full into interies table Ruin. Upon see Efforts will depend the Triumph of Liberty over Desponden—of national Independence over Projects of universal Empire—and, faulty, of Cruitzation itself over Estandin.

At facts a Moment we doesn't our Duty folerantly to bind ourfelves to each other, and to our Countrymen, is the most facred Manner, that we will be ready with our Services of every Sort, and on every Conston, in at Defence—and that we will rather perifs together, than lare to fee the Housian the Bruish Name transfed, or that make Inderinance of Greatness, Glory, and Liberry destroyed, which has defended so in from our Forefathers, and which we are determined to transfer to our Politriny.

PEHIND THESE SOLDIERS OF THE REGULAR Army, as a means of destruction for parachutists, airborne invaders, and any traitors that may be found in our midst-behind the regular Army we have more than a million of the Local Defence Volunteers, or, as they are much better called, the 'Home Guard.' These officers and men, a large proportion of whom have been through the last War, have the strongest desire to attack and come to close quarters with the enemy wherever he may appear. Should the invader come to Britain, there will be no placid lying down of the people in submission before him as we have seen, alas, in other countries. We shall defend every village, every town. and every city."

July 14, 1940

WINSTON CHURCHILL

Fellow Citizens,

PONAPARTE threatens to invade us: He promises to enrich his soldiers with our property: To glut their lust with our Wives and Daughters: To incite his Hell-hounds to execute his vengeance he has sworn to permit every thing. Shall we merit, by our cowardice, the titles of sordid Shopkeepers, Cowardly Scum, and Dastardly Wretches, which in every proclamation he gives us: No; we will loudly give him the lie: let us make ourselves ready to shut our Shops and march to give him the reception his malicious calumnies deserve: Let every brave young fellow instantly join the Army or Navy; and those among us, who, from being married, or so occupied in business, cannot, let us join some Volunteer Corps, where we may learn the use of arms and yet attend our business; let us encourage recruiting in our neighbourhood, and loudly silence the tongues of those whom Ignorance or Defection (if any such there be) lead them to doubt of the attempt to invade, or inveigh against the measures taken to resist it. - By doing this, and feeling confidence in ourselves, we shall probably prevent the attempt, or, if favoured by a dark night, the enemy should reach our shores, - our Unanimity and Strength will paralize his efforts and render him an easy prey to our brave Army. Let us, in our families and neighbourhood, thus contribute to so desirable an event, and the blood-stained banners of the vaunted Conquerors of Europe will soon be hung up in our Churches, the honourable Trophies of our brave Army: -- an Army ever Victorious when not doubled in numbers; and the only Army who can stand the charge of Bayonets. - What Army ever stood THEIRS!!! - Let the welfare of our Country animate all - and "come the World in Arms against us, and we'll shock 'em!"

A SHOPKEEPER.

Thee, Haughty Tyrants ne'er shall tame, All their Attempts to pull thee down Shall but arouse thy gen'rous flame To work their woe and thy renown.

MEN OF ENGLAND!

IT is said that some of you are so discentented that you would join the Enemies against your Country ——Is it possible that you are so miled, as to before that the Enemies to English would, whatever they pretend, he friends to you. Be arrored, if you are so persuaded, that you are growly imposed upon. What should make them your friends—What ties should then 2—Think a little; and a very bute proper reflection will be sufficient to make you see, that the Invaders of your Country, in their hearts, he is the inhabitants of it; and will, in the end, themselves betray the Traities to it.

The Invaders would nearly desolate your country—and if Previsions are dear new, what wou'l shey be when numberless attacks of hay and com were burnt—the earth destroyed, and a herrid legion of drayerste, faithless, lawless Invaders to be maintained?—who would trample upon every tie, break all promises, make teels of you first, but soon sacrifice your wites, your daughters, your families, and younchess, when you had rereed their purpose. If any few among you were guilty of plun fer, you would y smelves soon be plundered and destroyed.

It has been the necessity of defending our country against. Its energies that has made provident dear the your wages have been increased in proportion-and though you may sometimes, as the course of exertsuffer some hardships, as every ledy in their turn must do, you may, unless it be your own factor, enjoy itgreatest comfortana peaceable homema happy family maquiet country, whose trade and consequence is entired by all the wealth-plentful harrests magneterment that respects you, and that your flee-fathers would have defended with the last drop of their bload-you have an excellent and fawful King, who will present your and alone all, you may have a blessing from G of, who will reward y in hereaf ex, if you its your duty days But from a Usurper and Invader you can have nothing to expect but the being classes to his fasters schemes for power. Let who will tell you the occuracy, he comes only for plumber and recome upon the only prome he fears. Will you be his instruments, his tooked. Can you, as Englishmen, lower yourselves lo such a manner, men such a mean Usurper. Heaven, from the beginning, intended now wholld have kings and apperform Equality severy was introduction for each be on this earth. Hence and read of the Land Boungarie Forself has abeen you how I tile he intended to enall thin. Your firefathers gall ex now from their graves - their warried space tells you, that you would seen first the perfoly of his heart. The wee shed condition you would belong a unclose and your families lets, you would report too large despited of every frierd, but were of ample por ihment bere und hereafter.

People of England!—Sees of my beloved gloshous Country I. You are now called a pen by the Women of your country to prefect them.—Can you refers to hear in for Can you bear the thick gits of in a colly seeing as used with insult and building,—of seeing your country bleed at every pore, but of being the occasion is the editability and internosporate of your minuten experient, and by softening your elements to be diversed as I capited by foreign ill-deligning weather, who have celly our, and your rule at heart.

Englishwoman.

Printed for L. GINGER, 169, Percadilly Printed per Disserved and Wiles may be did at the fire of Figure that have been parametel, groups of a const

Citizens of London!

OUR generous spirited Foresathers more than Two hundred Years ago being threatened as we are now with a foreign Invasion, raised and armed Ten Thousand Two hundred and Seven Men, in the several Wards of this City, as appears in Detail by the annexed Schedule; besides which they voluntarily voted Government Sixteen of the largest Ships in the Thames, and Four Pinnaces or light Frigates, the Expense and Charges of which of every Kind were voluntarily defrayed, during the Whole Time they were in the Service of the Public, by the Citizens of London.

FELLOW CITIZENS!

Let us imitate the noble Example of fuch Ancestors.---We are ten Times more numerous!---Ten Times more Opulent!---May their sublime Spirit inspire us with a similar Ardour!---Then will the Citizens of London, alone, bring into the Field to oppose this flagitious Foe Ten times Ten Thousand Men!

Let us shew a bright Example to our Country.

Let us raise, arm, and maintain, during the Contest, One hundred Thousand Men!

MIDDLEHAM,

February 9th. 1801

HE Minister of this Parish earnestly exhorts the Parishioners to pay all dutiful respect to his Majesty's Proclamation for observing the appointed day, Friday February 13th. as a day of Solemn Fasting and Humiliation by a serious attention on Divine Worship, and by suplicating the mercy of Almighty God in behalf of these Realms, assisted with War and Scarcity, and under just apprehensions of suture Trials.

SMITH, Printer, and Bookseller, RICHMOND.

JOHN BULL CAUGHT NAPPING

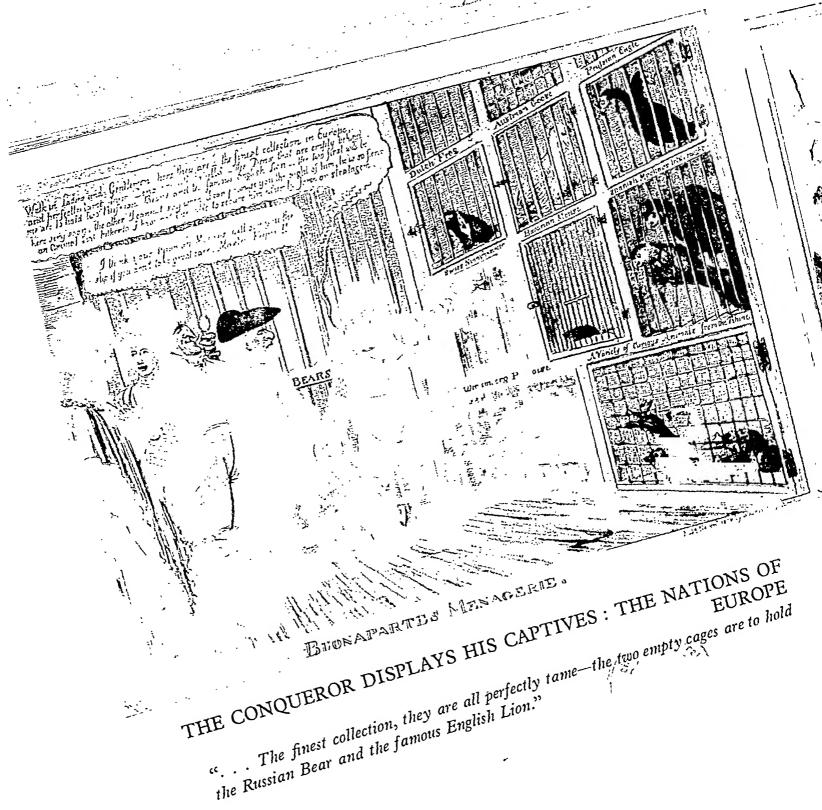

While the British Government is asleep, he is tempted to sign a "Definite Treaty" for England and his "Peace with peace. The would-be Invader's "Plan for Invading England" and his "Peace with Russia" are prepared.

Selling the Skin before the Bear is caught or cutting up the Bull blocker Killed

THE WOULD-BE INVADER AND HIS HENCHMEN

They plan the division of the Country yet unconquered. Britannia on the alert: "When those Morons have settled their plan, I will just rouse the Bull and then see who will be cut up first" the Russian Bear and the famous English Lion.

THE WAR OF NERVES, 1804

DRAGON: "As the Romans treated Carthage, so will I plunder and destroy the Othes, and who shall deliver thee from the Fury of my soldiers?"

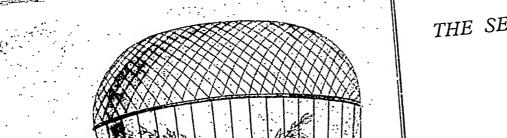

THREE LIONS: "O Gog, art thou come to take a Spoil? Hast thou gathered thy Company to take a Prey? Tremble, Monster. It is with Britons that thou hast to combat..."

THE MEN of KENT inviting BONAPARTE to a BANQUET !!

THE UNCHANGED MENU OF KENTISHMEN FOR INVADERS "Gunpowder Soup, Force Meat Balls, Kentish Artichoke, and Firework Custard."

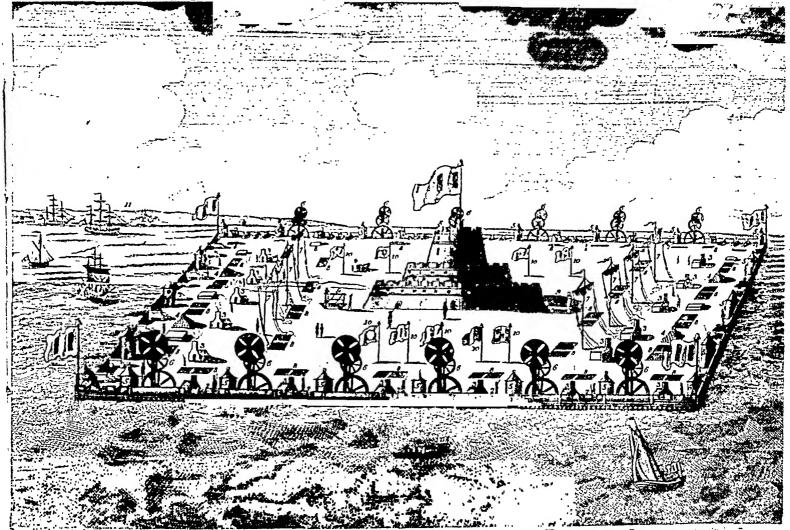

THE SECRET WEAPONS

THIL ORIERE

Projet d'une Montgolfiere capable d'anleure sur la fluorie de finance de pui re contora que especialissement de l'une Montgolfiere capable d'une non nappe de fluorie l'appendir pour emperer le répédirement une nappe de fluorie l'appendir de l'une XI present de l'une l'appendir de publicité du Jacob les Presents de l'une XI present de l'appendir de l'

INVASION BY AIR The Troopcarrier

2. The Browst Bork Battery's mounted with quase surving Bulle of our pounds each.

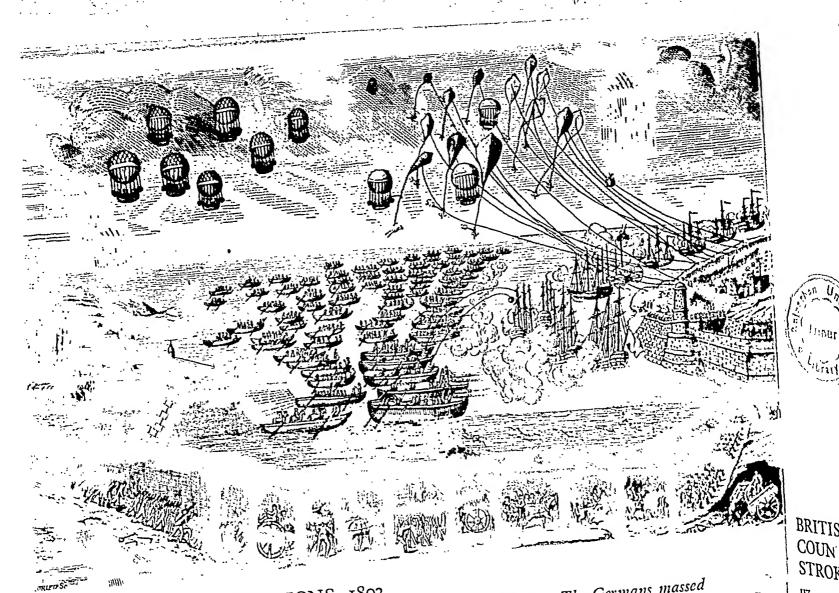

The furnishes for healing the Bulle Cooking &c. Permish of Bulle. orings. ... Water Wheel.

THE GREAT RAFT, NOW BUILDING AT BREST 700 YARD'S LONG, and 350 BROAD, CONGRAVED from the MODEL presented to the FRENCH DIRECTORY.

T. The Marte to hoise disilien ventringle. 11. The Start to heart starts an accurate to A. The Wolne thro the Ruth to get at Water to different unes after to drain wil Water that may come over the Recourt Rock. 2. The Engines in case of Fire. At The Plags for the station of each Regiment II, Reset Horbour,

INVASION BY SEA

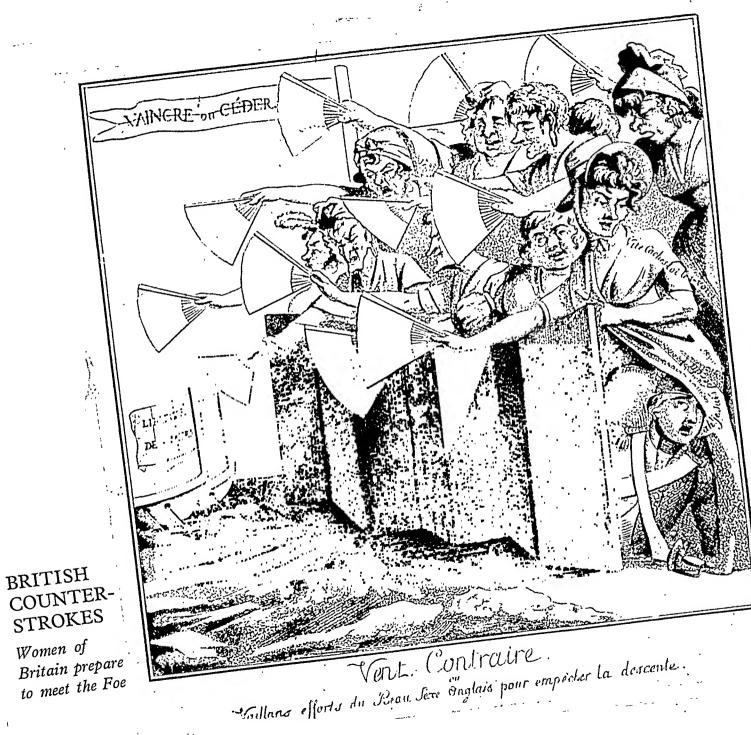

The Floating Fortress

"In September 1940, the Battle of Britain was at its climax. The Germans massed COMBINED OPERATIONS 1803 2,500 barges along the Channel coast for the invasion of Britain. The German air attacks on Britain were the preliminary to invasion. The air attack was so decisively beaten that the invasion fleet never sailed "-(M.O.I.)

BRITISH $\text{COM}_{N_{i}} \mapsto$ STROKE'S

Women of Britain prep. to meet the i

STROKES Women of Britain prepare to meet the Foe

BRITISH COUNTER-MEASURES
"The Home Guard"

THE TINKER, THE TAILOR, THE CANDLESTICKMAKER

What the Man in the Street thinks of the Invasion threat

BRITANNIA Blowing up the Corsicani Bottle Conjuner

THE BRITISH SPIRIT

Composed of true Liberty, Courage, Loyalty and Religion, it proves too strong for the Invader, and he is blown sky-high

Hoo_haw_There he goes!! -Sept del

THEN AND NOW

" Grim-Joe " 1813-1943

GRIM JOEY DASHING LATTLE BONEY into the Jaws of a Russian Bear

THE INVADER'S PRESTIGE AT STAKE

Napoleon when warned by his Generals against an "impossible" Russian campaign,

Napoleon when warned by his Generals against of fools"

Napoleon when warned by his dictionary of fools"

Napoleon when warned by his only in the dictionary of fools"

THE RUSSIANS CALL THE TUNE.

ДЛЯ КУРІОЗУ РЕОЯПИШКАМЪ бирюлекъ принесъ.

A RUSSIAN BOOR returning from his FIELD STORTS.

copied from an Original Russian Print Elihaly gorukshark

THE FIGHTING BEHIND THE LINES

MHOГОЛИ Bach? and Bcb ужь. Макь Кыстати идос таль дорубить чтобь впредь не тревожили (copied from an Original

So your the last! says this brave honest Man. Now Nap return to Russiaif gan can.) causely geometrical

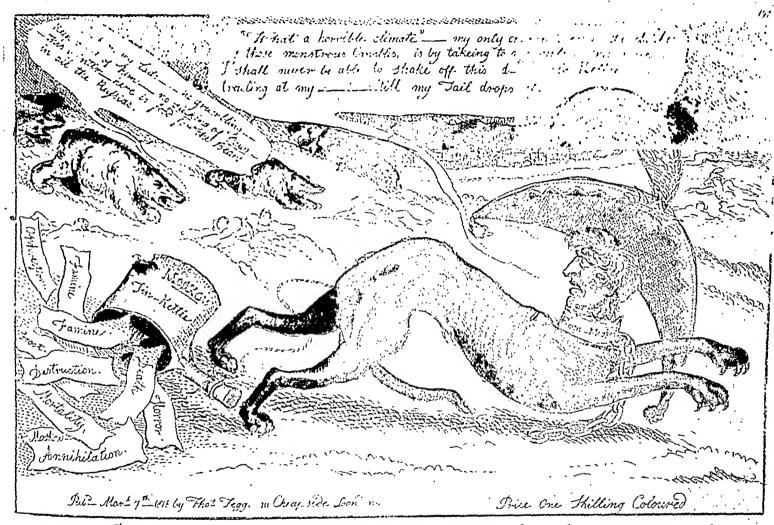

THE INVADERS HARASSED BY PATRIOTS

AT THE GATES OF MOSCOW

THE INVADER'S DILEMMA:

To stand .

The CORSICAN BLOODHOUND, beset by the BEARS of Auxia:

"Evidently the Russian land has its own traditions: . . . frost and death for enemies"

ILYA EHRENBURG, 1943

WE CAME FOR BOOTY-

BUT ARE RUNNING TO SAVE OUR SKINS

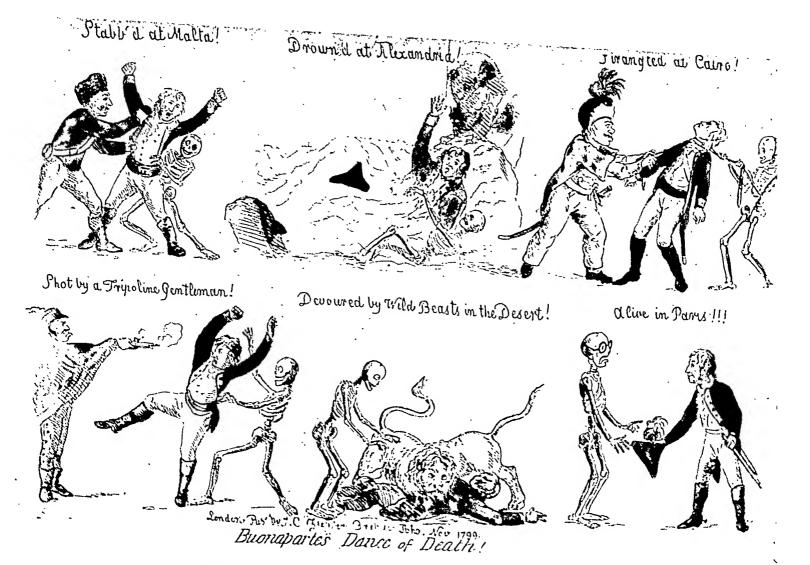

HOSTAGES NOW AND THEN

Russians prefer death to treachery

THE INVADER'S "INTUITION"

It persuades him to flee in disguise leaving his Army in the lurch

THE INGLORIOUS AFRICAN CAMPAIGN

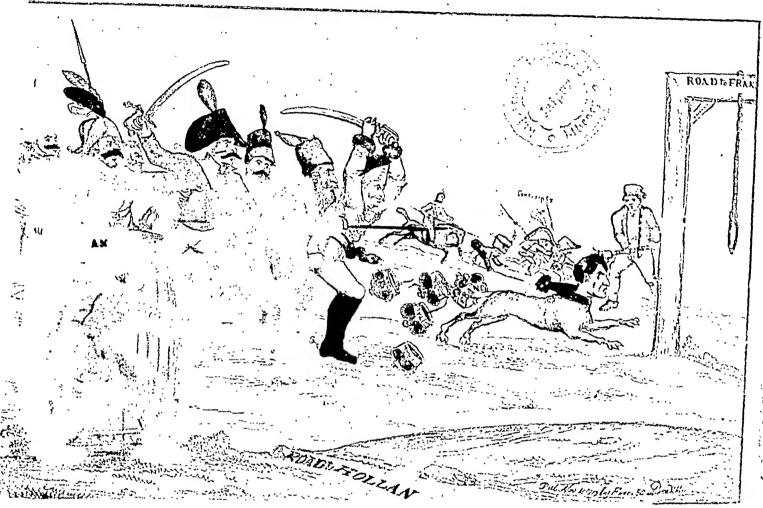

The Stepping Stones of Disaster

THE WAR IN THE MEDITERRANEAN

Superior Sea power strangles the lifelines of the Tyrant and enables the Allies to liber.

Africa and girrort Italia from Line Africa and wrest Italy from him

IIIIE CORSICAN · MIAID DOG or the Hope of the Destroyer of the Destroyer of the Therman White in Rophy to accopy Jacoberoual Speaches made by the Opposition, respecting the Full the Grant for Drophete all yill be accopy to Grant with one Day Toppor and compile for all the or had not be madeled to much by the Every section of the contract of the con

Mr. Churchill in his speech of October 14, 1942, referring to Hitler, said: "He sees with chagrin and amazement, that our defeats are but stepping stones to victory and that his victories are only the stepping stones to ruin"

THE ALLIED NATIONS CHASING THE INVADER BACK OVER THE RHINE

he Last March of the Conscripts or Salan & his Salellites hunted to the Land of Oblivion Sinterior

THE JOURNEY'S END "Crime doesn't pay"